

Results of the International Wine and Spirit Competition 2008

An der IWSC (Internationale Wein und Spirituosen Competition) in England werden seit 1969 jährlich die besten Weine, welche auf dem Englischen Markt erhältlich sind bewertet. Traditionell werden in England fast alle Weine importiert, da klimatisch bis anhin dort nur ein paar wenige Schaumweine produziert werden (können). Neben den traditionellen europäischen produzierenden Weinländern sind im Englischen Markt auch die Neue Welt Länder gut vertreten. Dies weil in England die Mentalität internationaler (Great Britain Empire) ausgerichtet ist, aber auch weil bei den ehemaligen Englischen Kolonien keine Berührungängste und Sprachbarrieren existieren und weil kein Wein-Heimatschutz betrieben werden kann.

An der Awardsverleihung 2008 wurden aus in etwa 5000 eingereichten Weinen aus ca. 50 Ländern total 107 Gold oder Gold-Best-in-Class Medaillen vergeben. Davon gewann Australien mit 34 Gold-Medaillen am meisten aller Länder. Also pro 30 Weine eine Gold Medaille (3.3% der eingereichten Australischen Weine). Gleich dahinter palzieren sich Südafrika und Frankreich mit je 19 Gold Medaillen. Bei Frankreich sind das 2% der eingereichten französischen Weine und bei Südafrika sind es 3.2%. Damit hat Südafrika einen fast so grossen Gold-Erfolgs-Ratio wie Australien. Dahinter platzierten sich Neuseeland mit 11 Goldmedaillen.

Bei den Trophy Weinen, also den besten Weinen der ganzen Welt dominierte Südafrika die Konkurrenz. Von den 15 Wein-Klassen gewann Südafrika gleich 5 Throphäen. Für Merlot, Chardonnay, Bordeaux Assemblage rot, Pinot Noir, und Flaschenfermentation Méthode Champenoise. Dahinter platzierte sich Australien und Neuseeland mit je 3 Trophy Weinen.

The International Wine and Spirit Competition was founded in 1969 and is the premier competition of its kind in the world. Its aim is to promote the quality and excellence of the world's best wines, spirits and liqueurs. This standard is achieved through a rigorous two-stage judging process of professional blind tasting and detailed technical (chemical and microbiological) analysis that takes place at The Competition's headquarters in Surrey, UK. To ensure perfect conditions, the premises include temperature-controlled cellars, a fully equipped independent laboratory for technical analysis, and three dedicated tasting rooms. In 2005 The Competition received approximately 5,000 entries from over 50 countries.

The Competition is backed by a group of vice presidents made up of the most influential men and women in the trade, including Baroness Philippine de Rothschild, Miguel Torres, Marchese Piero Antinori, Robert Drouhin, Robert Mondavi, May de Lencquesaing, Kenneth Graham and Sir Anthony Greener. Frances Horder, Competition Director, explains why the great and the good of the industry support The Competition above all other competitions.

Allen Gibbons, executive director of the IWSC says: “Our objective is to identify the best wines and spirits and to promote them to the trade and press. This schedule allows for all the products to be assessed at their finest, and our temperature controlled cellars and tasting rooms ensure optimum conditions throughout the six month judging period.

He continues: “Less than 2% of our wine entries attained gold as we are particularly thorough in our judging, which is carried out using pre-poured blind flights by style. Our judges include 40 masters of wine, 30 winemakers and key industry players such as master blender Richard Paterson. Whether the triumphant lines are famous brands or new discoveries, we are confident that the decisions reached by our panels are borne of both expertise and impartiality.”

Australia once again took pole position with the highest number of gold awards (34) for wines across the competition, also at 3.3% they scored the highest percentage of gold awards against their number of wines entered. The stringent judging meant only 107 gold or gold (Best in Class) medals were awarded across all wine entries worldwide. South Africa and France came in joint second with 19 gold medals each, representing 3.2% and 2% of their entries respectively. New Zealand was the next highest scorer with 11 gold awards. Spirit awards were announced earlier in the year, along with the results of Northern hemisphere wine entries. All of this year’s trophy presentations and final announcements take place at the annual awards ceremony and banquet in November, at Guildhall in London.

IWSC competition director, Frances Horder, adds: “The achievers in this year’s competition were often little known producers such as Moppity Vineyards from the Hilltops region in Australia which entered only one wine; a shiraz that took gold (Best in Class) and which was also short-listed for the Shiraz trophy, which ultimately went to Trentham Estate, from Victoria. Other discoveries were the wines of Casa Madero in Mexico, which took an astonishing six of the nine medals awarded to Mexican entries. I say ‘discovery’ but at over 400 years old, I guess Casa Madero winery has been around long enough to know how to make a good wine. Clearly not all new world wines are new!”

Amongst the 23 trophies being announced today, 15 were open to wines from anywhere in the world. Of these, South Africa picked up five, New Zealand and Australia both picked up three of these worldwide trophies, with the inaugural presentation of The Jancis Robinson Riesling Trophy going to Peter Lehmann Wines, of the Barossa. All three trophies for champagne or champagne style wines were produced by P & C Heidsieck.

IWSC Trophy Winners 2008 + Südafrika Resultate

The International Wine and Spirit Competition is the premier competition of its kind in the world.

Its aim is to promote the quality and excellence of the world's best wines, spirits and liqueurs.

All our wines, spirits and liqueurs are blind tasted in groups divided by variety, region and vintage as necessary. Awards are made on a points system and sponsored trophies are presented in selected categories. Technical analysis is carried out on Gold, Gold (Best in Class), Silver (Best in Class) award winning wines, spirits and liqueurs to ensure that all products are technically sound and will be of the same high quality when they reach the consumer as they were when our judging panels originally tasted them.

Trophies are presented to the very best or the year's entries in specific categories. These Trophies are awarded after a further tasting of the highest scoring products in the specified categories. Many are sponsored by well-known names within the industry.
